JACK FROST ON HIS WAY

Weather Bureau's Paradoxical Announcement About Weather.

Mercury Will Go Down, But Curiously Enough, the Experts Say It Will Not Be Cold.

The gentlemen who reside over the destinies of the Weather Bureau have propounded a problem that will keep the people of Washington guessing for a while any way.

It is officially given out that the cold wave is coming.

The bureau people say that the thermometer will drop thirty-five degrees, yet they claim that it will not be cold.

Of course there will be no cold storage temperature running about, but what arrangement the bureau has made with the managers of the cold wave question in order to keep the general public from suffering from the cold when the thermometer is hovering dangerously near the freezing point is not known.

There will be no attachment in connection with this breath of Jack Frost. The people, according to the officials, may go about nearly, but not quite, in their usual and easy ways, although the thermometer will be only about three degrees from the freezing mark.

This cold wave had its inception in the lake region, and then went wrong and got down into Arkansas. It then took a northern direction, and started for the Capital of the nation.

It is not officially announced at the bureau whether or not the wave was blown off its trolley by the wind produced by the backwash of Corbett and Fitzmaurice.

The idea is prevalent in the department that the overcast producer also wanted to beat Congress here, and get things in readiness for the untimely and cruel Congressmen.

The Weather Bureau people know what they are talking about, and this morning it was proudly pointed out that the thermometer had begun to fall.

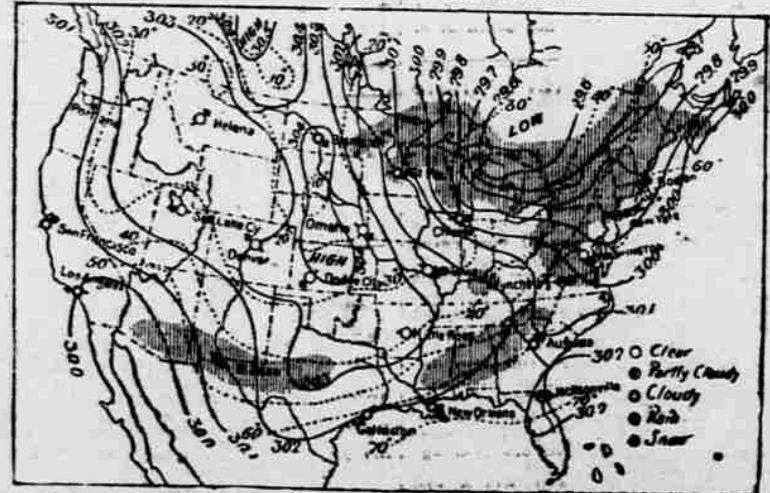

When a Times reporter was ushered into the forecast room one of the attaches of the bureau gleefully pointed out to him the fact that the thermometer had fallen one degree. An hour previously it was 65, and at that moment it was 64, and then, too, it was working against the sun.

Many curious things are daily happening, to Washington, but the people of this city will watch this wave with some interest, as it is about the first time the thermometer will be down to the freezing point, yet it will not be cold.

Crocker's Reported Purchase. New York, Oct. 28.—A St. Louis dispatch announces that Rev. El Santa Anita, owned by "Lucky" Baldwin, has been sold to Richard Crocker for $25,000.

THE TIMES DAILY WEATHER MAP

(Prepared at the United States Weather Bureau.)

Forecast Till 8 P. M. Tuesday. For the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia, fair and much colder. The temperature is now above 60 degrees and will fall to about 35 degrees by Tuesday morning. Northwesterly winds. The barometer has risen rapidly, and it is much colder throughout the central valleys and lake regions. The barometer is highest north of Montana, and it is lowest north of Lake Huron. It is warmer on the Atlantic coast. Light showers prevailed from the lake regions southward to the Gulf coast, followed this morning by clear weather. Snow continues in the lake regions. The indications are that fair and much colder weather will prevail from New England southwestward to Georgia.

VETERANS WILL BE THERE

Union Legion to Attend the Big Mass Meeting.

THEIR DRUM CORPS GOES, TOO

Expected That the Grand Army Will Turn Out Strong—Several New Speakers Secured for the Great Rally—Ladies as Vice Presidents. Committee on Resolutions.

The Union Veteran Legion will turn out Thursday night. It will attend the great Cuban rally in a body. Along with the veterans, will also be the Henderson High School Corps, the boys of the organization. The Legion's just back from the Buffalo trip, but so much enthusiasm was manifested for Cuba that it has not died out. The veterans, too, are determined that Corps should have an old-time escort, and so they turn out.

The Henderson boys were going to volunteer their services for the meeting and everything was all ready, but the Union Veteran Legion claimed their services for the same date. As the boys belong to the Veterans by adoption, nothing was left but to go with them. The music will be at the gathering, that is all that is wanted.

It is expected that a large delegation from the Grand Army will also turn out. The invitations have all been received and the various bodies will be able to act on them at their meeting the early part of this week. It is hoped that so many Grand Army men will decide to go that a respectable parade can be formed. Other military organizations have been invited, and it is more than probable that a number of them will attend. If such be the case, the parade of this organization can have a most handsome escort.

THE MEETING. Several new speakers have been secured, and the talent in this direction will be something the people can feel proud of. Short, snappy, to-the-point addresses are to be the order of the evening. This rule may be broken in the case of Senator Quezada and his friends, who will be expected to speak with more personal knowledge than any one else. Every one is anxious to hear them, and there will not be the slightest objection to the extension.

At the meeting of the executive committee at the office of Mr. Wolf to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock the final arrangements for the program of exercises will be completed. Already two poems have been presented to the committee and put on the program. A Cuban lady will sing in costume and there will be plenty of other music. Five speeches are on the list and two more are promised. The program will be placed on it to-morrow.

The list of vice presidents will comprise a number of the leading women of the District. They have been selected by ballot, and appointments as rapidly as possible and a large number of them are expected to be present. They will represent all the societies and clubs which are working for the good of mankind. So they will not be confined alone to the representatives of patriotic bodies.

The committee on resolutions meets this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the office of Mr. Tanager, in the Loan and Trust building. The resolutions which will be adopted will be dignified and at the same time will speak in terms that cannot be misunderstood. Coming from the citizens of the Capital they will be of great value. For this reason the committee is exercising the greatest possible care in their construction.

NEED OF ARMS.

A Cuban night with whom the Times talked last night divulged a plan for furnishing the armies of Maceo, Gomez, Rego, and the other defenders of the small island with the instruments of war. He said that the instruments of war were small arms and light ordnance. His design contemplates the manufacture of them there. He proposes to work in a small scale and cast place and locate inside the insurgent lines. He will then utilize the steel rails of the steam railroads in making gun barrels.

He said that he had communicated with President Cleveland, who had said his claim should be paid. When asked if he had seen the President he said no, but said he had talked with him by means of fully sworn spokesmen only to the two men.

Treasurer Morgan quickly called a Treasury watchman and whispered to him that the man was a crank. Then in loud tones he directed the watchman to accompany Mr. Morgan to the cashier of the Treasury and get to it that he was given a draft for $317,000.00. The watchman handed Mr. Morgan over to the police.

REASON FOR THE REMOVAL.

Secretary Olney Did Not Personally Like Kieckhefer and Haywood. No announcement has been made at the State Department as to who has been selected to succeed Francis J. Kieckhefer, heretofore in charge of the Bureau of Accounts. It is understood that the position has been tendered a gentleman already in the Government service, and there is some doubt expressed as to whether he will accept.

The principal reason for the removal of Mr. Kieckhefer's accounts has been practically concluded, and the amount of shortage placed at something in the neighborhood of $200. This deficiency is said to be the result of inefficient bookkeeping, and does not indicate any criminal transactions.

Kieckhefer and Haywood were removed because Secretary Olney was dissatisfied with their methods of transacting business and considered that a change would be beneficial to the service. Mr. Kieckhefer is under $30,000 bonds, and it is unlikely that any attempt will be made to recover the small shortage which exists.

CRANK AT THE TREASURY

T. B. Mangan's Claim, in His Mind, is Bigger Than Mora's.

Called Upon Treasurer Morgan and Demanded a Draft for $317,000.00—Police Have Him in Charge.

T. B. Mangan, a middle-aged man, who says he hails from the State of Wisconsin, was placed in the hands of the police this morning to inquire into his sanity.

He called at 10 o'clock upon United States Treasurer Morgan and demanded a draft for $317,000.00 in payment of a claim he had against the United States government for 12,000 tons of gold lost by the sinking of the steamer Victoria some years ago.

He said he had communicated with President Cleveland, who had said his claim should be paid. When asked if he had seen the President he said no, but said he had talked with him by means of fully sworn spokesmen only to the two men.

Treasurer Morgan quickly called a Treasury watchman and whispered to him that the man was a crank. Then in loud tones he directed the watchman to accompany Mr. Morgan to the cashier of the Treasury and get to it that he was given a draft for $317,000.00.

The watchman handed Mr. Morgan over to the police.

ONE ARREST MADE.

Police Act in the Raymond Case, Although Suspicious of Its Merits. The name of the young man from Richmond, who, as reported in the Morning Times, reported at the Treasury last night that he had been robbed of $18,500 in money and a gold watch and chain by three highwaymen, was given to police headquarters to-day as William D. Raymond.

The police regard the report with some suspicion, however, as he is promised to appear at the Treasury to-day and consult Detective Weedon and Horne, and failed to keep the engagement.

This afternoon Precinct Detective Harpington arrested Frank Hall, a suspicious looking individual, who said that he had been in Boston and walked here from Baltimore. Hall spent part of last night at the Central Union Mission, and the detective suspected him of being implicated in the hold up. He will be given a hearing in the police court to-morrow.

SIXTY DOLLARS LEFT.

Oklahoma Bankers Make a Clean Sweep of the Vault. Perry, Okla., Oct. 28.—The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Blackwell, thirty miles west of the city, was robbed of $60,000 in gold and silver by a party of three men, who had been in the vault for some time.

Failure to pay some warrants was the cause of the robbery. The bank had $60 in the bank and notes to the amount of $15,000. Liabilities are placed at $11,000.

CLEVELAND WAS ANXIOUS

Asked Atlanta Exposition Managers Not to Have a Cuban Day.

Fearful That Spain Would Regard It as an Offense Which He Could Have Prevented.

The vigorous foreign policy of the administration, so far as the recognition of Cuban independence is concerned, has seemingly slipped a cog, causing general dissatisfaction and much unfavorable comment.

It has not been expected, as repeatedly stated in The Times, that the President would be the author of the speedy convening of Congress, assume the responsibility of recognizing the Cuban revolutionists as belligerents, preferring to have that question determined by the national legislature after calm deliberation and mature discussion.

There was renewed enthusiasm manifested by lovers of liberty throughout the country when the management of the Atlanta exposition set apart November 6 as Cuban day.

It was to be an event of great magnitude and far-reaching importance. Gov. Matthews, of Indiana, an aspirant for the Democratic Presidential nomination, had accepted an invitation to be present and sound the keynote of his campaign—a strong declaration in favor of Americanism, the Monroe doctrine, and the extension of a helping hand to struggling sister republics.

The fact that the President decided that such a demonstration would be inappropriate and might be construed by Spain as a preventable offense. This view was based on the fact that the exposition maintained an expensive exhibit at the exposition, which had been provided by a Congressional appropriation of $250,000 of Cuban day.

No attempt, so far as is known, was made to interfere with the matter. The President cannot interfere, only by request, in the disposition of a Congressional appropriation. The question is purely administrative, and the President has no right to interfere with the World's Fair should be closed on Sunday.

Consequently, the President was found expedient to influence the board of directors of the Atlanta exposition that they would take preventive action. For this reason, it is believed that the President has returned to Washington.

And this is later inspired that H. H. Cabot, Mr. Secretary Smith's business partner, and the manager of his paper, the Journal, appeared before the managers of the exposition and made an urgent plea for the abandonment of Cuban day.

In the course of his remarks he declared that the Administration would be seriously injured if Congress was to be asked to appropriate money for a day which was not a day of the United States Government, and was an official participation in the celebration of the independence of a foreign nation.

The President and his Cabinet had formally visited the grounds. It would be improper and annoying to allow the impression to go out that Congress was to be influenced in advance by such a demonstration against Spain.

Mr. Cabot, with all his eloquence, was unable to make effective his proposition of abandonment, and was eventually compelled to accept a compromise deferring the date from November 6 to December 17. Congress will then be in session and the objection of the administration will then be technically removed.

So far as the President's action, no action of the President Administration has been taken. The day at the exposition will be held on Sunday, and the day at the Treasury will be held on Monday. The day at the Treasury will be held on Monday, and the day at the Treasury will be held on Monday.

RAY BIRNEY IS INSPECTED

Mr. Birney Says That It Has Been Tamed With.

ANNOUNCEMENT IN COURT

He Made No Other Statement as to the Weak Point Among the Twelve Men—Judge Cox Allows the Trial to Proceed Pending a More Definite Charge.

When the trial of James Ray, the D Street saloon-keeper, charged with receiving stolen property, was continued before Judge Cox, criminal division No. 2, this morning, District Attorney Birney created a sensation by announcing that he believed the jury had been tampered with. He made no specification of where the weak point in the case lay, and refused to discuss the matter further.

Thomas H. Taylor, counsel for Ray, announced his surprise at the indefiniteness of the accusation, and suggested to the court that this was not the time to follow up an investigation of this kind.

Judge Cox announced that the case would go on, and that if Mr. Birney was in the future to bring in a specific accusation he would have opportunity to do so.

EVIDENCE FOR DEFENSE.

The prosecution finished with its witnesses Friday, and the defense offered its evidence to-day. Ray himself was put on the stand, and made an absolute denial of the leading points brought out by the government.

Having bought the watches of "Blood" Jones, as was testified last Friday, but denied that he knew the watches were stolen. Ray said he had known Jones for years, but never knew he was a thief.

Assistant District Attorney Jeffords made the opening argument for the government, and Mr. Taylor followed for his client. Mr. Birney closed the case.

MR. BIRNEY'S STATEMENT. Concerning the alleged tampering Mr. Birney said:

"Your honor, I understand on reliable information that some part of the jury has been tampered with."

After Mr. Taylor, continued for the defendant, interrupted him before he had gone further.

"I don't think Mr. Birney should go on with such remarks at this time, your honor. This is not the time nor place to make such a statement that should, if made at all, be made after the trial, and if Mr. Birney sees fit to make charges of no specific charge against any juror."

"You are right, I think, Mr. Taylor," said the court. "The trial will proceed, and if Mr. Birney sees fit to make charges at the close of the trial, very well; this is not the time."

There was a noticeable look of surprise in the faces of the jurors, as Mr. Birney readily consented to let the matter drop for the present.

The names of the jurors in the panel are as follows: G. H. Mickin, William H. Johnson, Douglas S. Syphax, Emmet Parker, Jeremiah Connel, Wallace Grant, C. Sumner Worthington, Henry Brewster, George H. Lee, George H. Vermillion, Charles Scherer and Henry S. Wetmore.

The court ordered the case to proceed. The case went to the jury shortly after 2 o'clock.

At 2:30 p. m. they returned a verdict of guilty, and Mr. Birney ordered bail increased to $5,000, and the hearing of the motion for a new trial.

BERING SEA CONVENTION. Belief That a Mixed Commission Will Be Appointed by It.

As a result of the conference now being held in this city by the representatives of the Canadian government, Sir Julian Paucot, and Secretary Olney, looking to the payment of damages to Canadian sealers seized in Bering Sea, the amount having been fixed at $400,000 by the Spanish tribunal of arbitration, it is expected that a convention will be framed providing for a mixed commission to assess the amount.

If the convention should provide for a commission it will consist of two members, one on the part of the United States and the other representing her Majesty's government.

Their sessions will be held at Victoria, British Columbia, where all the evidence connected with the seizure of the sealers will be collected. Should the commissioners fail to agree upon the amount of damages, they will be permitted under the terms of the convention to choose a third member.

Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian minister of justice, and Sir McKenzie Bowden, the Canadian premier, who were invited by Sir Julian to be present during the framing of the convention, are in the city.

LICENSES WILL BE ISSUED

Anti-Saloon League Fight Against Porter Flats of No Avail.

OTHER CASES ARE AFFECTED

Assistant Assessor Morse in Ill, But the Papers Were Sent for His Signature—Another Diver Employed to Break Up the Lake of the Lake's Hull—Minor District Matters.

William T. Whelan comes out victor in his long drawn-out contest for a harbor license at the Porter Flats, now known as the Virginia House, on Seventh street southward.

The excuse board to-day authorized the issuance of the license, a majority signing the affirmation, and the papers being sent later to the residence of Mr. Morse, who is ill, for his signature.

Whelan's claim was attacked upon the grounds that his place of business would be within 400 feet of a private school, and also because of the alleged fact that Whelan had not secured a majority of the residents to endorse the application. The tenants who reside in the flats protested against the granting of the license, claiming to be householders and demanding the right to be heard.

The attorney for the District decided the issue are exempt from the operation of the provisions of the four-hundred-foot law.

The Anti-Saloon League attorney took the opposite view, and filed an affidavit of five well-known attorneys, who endorsed his construction.

Additional arguments were advanced by the attorney for the tenants, and the case took a sleep for ten days, during which the building was temporarily inspected by the members of the board. The result was made known to-day.

A prominent member of the Anti-Saloon League, in commenting upon the action, said:

"We have anticipated it ever since the board decided in favor of the Griffin House, but there is a strong probability that the decision will not be final. The attorneys whose opinions of the law differ so radically with that of the District's attorney are much too prominent in their profession for anybody to ignore their views upon any subject."

"It will probably be impossible to get an information filed in the District court, as Thomas is the superior in the office of the prosecutor, and I presume that Mr. Dugh, whatever may be his views, will have to be governed by the opinion of his chief. To settle the matter otherwise will require expensive litigation, but the case will not stop where it is."

"I suppose we might have the excise board indicted for violating the excise law, but that will not be seriously considered, so far as I know."

ANOTHER DIVER. Another diver was employed to-day to assist in removing the hull of the Lady of the Lake from the channel at the foot of Seventh street. The contractor is obtaining a harbor license for the vessel within sixty days from the date of the beginning, one week's work having been done already. The expense is borne by the United States Government.

The hearing to be given Contractor Wardfield, set for to-day, concerning the fines imposed upon him under the garbage regulations, was postponed until to-morrow, owing to the unavoidable absence of Commissioner Truett.

The excise board has also deferred until to-morrow the hearing of arguments in the matter of the application of the Harrison Flats for retail liquor license, under the provision governing such cases.

MASS FOR MACKAY. Solemn Service by Father Ducey at New York To-day.

New York, Oct. 28.—A solemn requiem (low) mass was celebrated this morning by the Rev. Father Ducey at St. Leo's Church, for the repose of the soul of John W. Mackay, Jr., who was killed recently in France.

The church was crowded with the friends and acquaintances of the deceased. The catalogue was draped in black and several wreaths of flowers were placed upon it.

A great many of the employees of the Commercial Cable Company were present to assist in the ceremony.

Father Ducey, after the requiem mass was celebrated, paid a touching tribute to the memory of the deceased, and his life, he said, "was crushed out by a cruel accident."

Col. Thomas P. Ochiltree represented the Mackay family at mass. There were also present Miss Virginia Fair, of California; Mrs. Oelrichs, and Mrs. Towler.

NICARAGUAN CANAL. High Authority Says It Exceeds the Suez in Importance.

London, Oct. 28.—Archibald Ross Colquhoun, the traveler, explorer and journalist, who returned last July from a tour of inspection of the Nicaragua canal, read a paper before the London Chamber of Commerce this afternoon upon "The Effects of the Nicaragua Canal Upon British Trade."

The Nicaragua canal, he said, would be of more importance to the western hemisphere than the Suez Canal was to the eastern part of the world, and the political and commercial changes which its success would entail made it necessary that Great Britain should make every effort to secure its completion.

It is expected that the convention will be completed by Saturday, as the near approach of Congress makes speedy action necessary. It will be sent to the Senate for ratification immediately upon the reassembling of Congress.
